

---

EduHound Site Sets*Civics

- The Center for Civic Education

A nonprofit, nonpartisan educational corporation dedicated to promoting an enlightened and responsible citizenry committed to democratic principles and actively engaged in the practice of democracy in the US and other countries.

<http://www.civiced.org>

- CIVNET

An online resource for civic education practitioners, as well as scholars, policymakers, civic-minded journalists, and non-governmental organizations (NGOs) promoting civic education all over the world.

<http://www.civnet.org>

- Close Up Foundation

Close Up's mission is built on the belief that textbooks and lectures alone are not enough to help students understand the democratic process and make it work. Students need a "close up" experience in government.

<http://www.closeup.org>

- C-SPAN Classroom

A free membership service that offers information and resources to assist educators, and specifically Civics and U.S. Government teachers, in their use of C-SPAN's primary source, public affairs video.

<http://www.c-spanclassroom.org>

- citizenJoe

An excellent resource for young people learning about the connection between policy and government and for the teachers working with those students.

<http://citizenjoe.org>

- School of Government

The NC Civic Education Consortium creates civics lesson plans that correlate with the NC Standard Course of Study in Civics and Economics.

<http://www.civics.unc.edu/>

- National Council for the Social Studies

Social studies educators teach students the content knowledge, intellectual skills, and civic values necessary for fulfilling the duties of citizenship in a participatory democracy.

<http://www.ncss.org/>